CONSIDER THIS

We have made a commitment through the years, to become involved in the community of Adams/ Friendship, and all of Adams County, as God gives direction. We have seen doors open in many sectors of the society for us to become involved in what others are doing. We always want to be sensitive to the call of God to display a Christian lifestyle, and participate in activities without compromising our faith, and we seem to be called on by the community to help them in events which are important, even for those who are outside of any particular Church.

We have been asked to lead a memorial service at the annual "Old Farmers" weekend event at the fairgrounds. One of the buildings on the grounds is a small frame church building which predates our own building here in White Creek. We will meet in that building for some singing and a short message, then go to an adjacent area where the markers memorializing farmers in Adams County who have passed away are. We will conclude the service with prayer. We have been asked to lead this for a number of years, and are grateful for the opportunity to share the Gospel with those who won't be in any Church on Sundays.

In order to do this, Beverly and I will have to be out of here today by 11:30, because they want to start at noon. Also, if you would like to go see what all this farming stuff is about, you are welcome to come along. There is no admission to view the exhibits, old tractors and other farm related stuff on display. There will be food there, but that will be pay as you go.

Pastor Sam
